

Special Column

Frontier

Standing on the node of the new era, we are more urgent than ever to look back at the past, think deeply about the present, and boldly predict the future. For this reason, CES TEMS promoted a new column Frontier and only the highest-quality papers are considered for publication in this column.

Manuscripts that do not meet the column standards will be reviewed according to the general standards of the journal. Particularly excellent articles submitted in Original Article can also be published in this column after being evaluated by Column EIC.